

Heartland District of the UUA

Anne Miller Award for Excellence in Lifespan Religious Education

The Heartland District Lifespan Religious Education Committee is now accepting nominations for the Anne Miller Lifespan Religious Education Award for the Heartland District of the UUA to honor significant contributions to lifespan religious education

The Anne Miller Award for Excellence in Lifespan Religious Education will be presented to an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to religious education for children, youth and adults over the years. It was originally established by the Ohio Valley UU District Lifespan Religious Education Committee in 1989. Now a Heartland District of the UUA award, it is given at the annual meeting each April.

This award carries Anne Miller's name as recognition for her 25 year of dedication to religious education. A nominee for the award should be a UU whose achievements include several of the following:

- contributed to the quality of RE at the local level
- raised the quality of RE at the district level through leadership and publications
- affected more than one society
- took advantage of opportunities of continuing education
- has been innovative in the use of RE resources
- brought dignity to the profession of religious education

Nominations need to include the nominee's name, address, telephone, email, along with specific qualities, achievements, contributions, and data that provide the District LRE Committee with information on the criteria listed. Nominations are due by March 1, 2010.
